Enhanced Access Rights

New - 10 Lists Available

Enhanced Access Rights now provides the capability of 10 lists, increased from the previous 3.

If your site launched before July 1, 2021, you must request the additional 7 lists to be added to your site. Simply request the additional lists using our support form.

Overview

Enhanced Access Rights extends the default locking capabilities for content - pages and documents and files - on a Web site.

The default access setting for locked content is called Members Only. It is determined automatically based on the status of a Web site user who is logging into a society Web site to view locked content. Members Only include the following settings:

- Members of the Web site's society
- Members in Member Pending Cutoff status of the Web site's society
- Employees of the Web site's society

With Enhanced Access Rights, you can extend this access by specifying ten (10) lists of Aptify users whom you want to have access to the locked content.

Resources

The following resources are available for you to set Enhanced Access Rights to your content.

Tutorials

The following tutorials are available for setting Enhanced Access Rights:

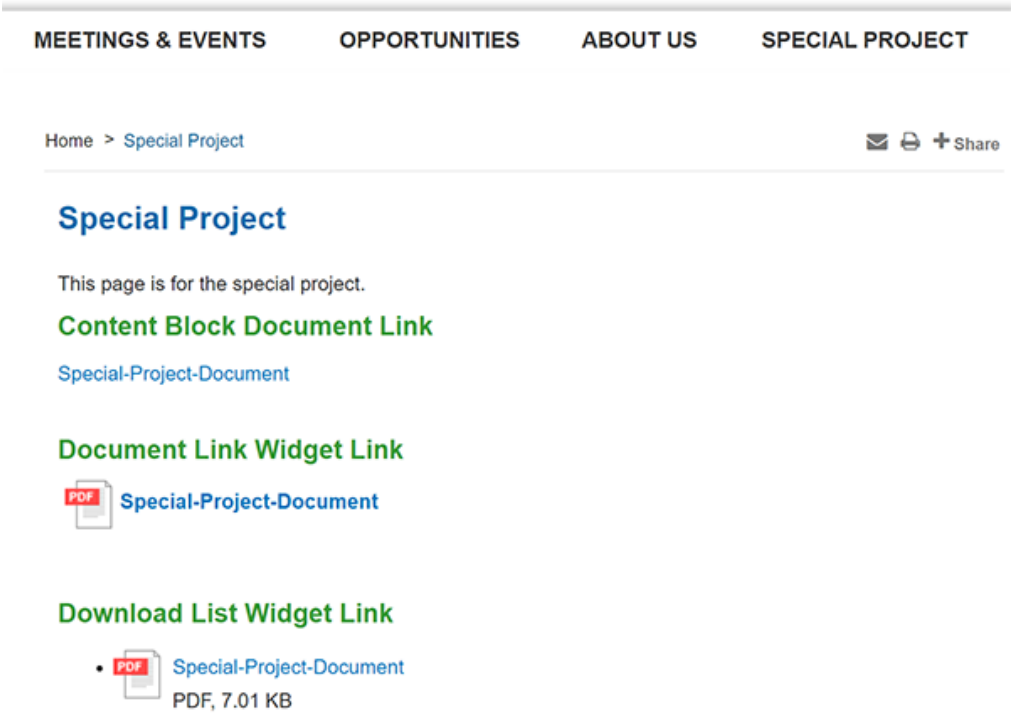
Aptify Settings

Sitefinity Page Settings

Sitefinity Documents and Files Settings

For the purpose of our tutorials, we will use a new “Special Project” page we want to lock as well as the content on the page, as shown below.

Before setting locking on the Page and Documents and Files level



After setting locking on the Page and Documents and Files level, and logging in to view it
